

CONSTANTINOPLE

TURKEY

POST CARD

Constantinople – well, Istanbul now, but I like the old name for this trip.

Impossible not to think about Harald everywhere here; this is where he made his fortune, long before Norway ever heard of him.

Found this in a little shop near the Hippodrome, couldn't resist:

Love,
Aunt Liv

FUN FACT

A Viking carved “Halfdan was here” in runes on a marble balustrade in Hagia Sophia. It's still there.

Image adaptation: "Historical peninsula and modern skyline of Istanbul" - Hunanuk, CC0.