

BATTLE

EAST SUSSEX

POST CARD

Today I visited Battle, the village where the Battle of Hastings happened. This is where William the Conqueror fought King Harold. William's victory sealed the conquest of England by the Normans. It's so cool to be able to see it in person, especially after spending hours looking at the tapestry!

Aunt Liv

FUN FACT

The Bayeux Tapestry's famous scene of Harold clutching an arrow in his eye may not be original — Victorian restorers reworked stitching in that exact spot, so historians still argue about how his death was actually shown.
