HNEFATAFL MUSEUM

OSLO

the Viking game of kings and corners trapped between two: captured

Light pieces defend the king at the centre of the board.

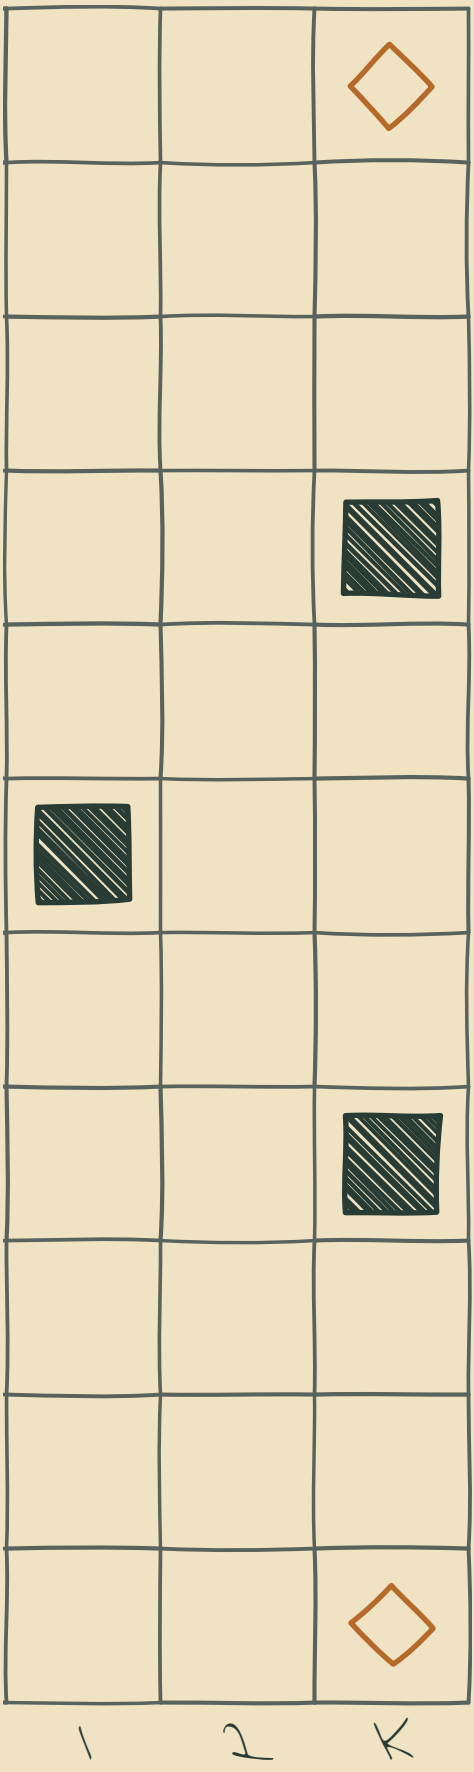
Dark pieces start around the edges and try to trap him.

Every piece slides any distance in a straight line, like a rook in chess.

Trap an enemy piece between two of your own to capture it.

The king escapes by reaching a corner. The attackers win by trapping him first.

GENERAL ADMISSION



1
2
K